Commission and Charges – Tied Insurance Intermediaries

Tied Insurance Intermediaries of Zurich Life can be paid a fixed commission to represent Zurich Life and specific details are available on request. They are paid commission on business placed with the Company and this payment is shown in the sample illustration provided to you at point-of-sale by the Tied Insurance Intermediary. Before completion of your application it is important that you receive this information and that you understand the details contained therein.

The maximum up front and ongoing commissions payable on our products are as follows;

Upfront

- 5% of the contribution for any single premium pension
- 4% of the contribution for an investment bond
- 5% of the contribution for an approved retirement fund (ARF)
- 3% of the contribution for an annuity.
- 20% of the first year annual premium for any regular premium pension or savings product
- 125% of the first year annual premium for a life insurance product

Ongoing

- 3% per annum for any regular premium policy and/or 0.5% of the fund value per annum on pension, investment or retirement products.

Upfront commission means that the payment is made shortly after the product has been set up. Ongoing commission would be payable after 12 months of the contract being in force, if applicable. Upfront commissions have what is known as a clawback period, which means that if you stop or surrender your policy within an initial time period, then some of the commission paid to the Tied Insurance Intermediary will be reclaimed from them by Zurich Life. For single premium products the clawback period can range from 0-24 months and for regular premium contracts, the clawback period can range from 0-48 months.

Full details of all charges and a specific illustration for the specific product purchased by you will be included with the cooling-off letter issued by Zurich Life to you when we issue your Policy Documentation. Any commission payments made are not an additional charge over and above the product charges shown in your specific illustration. Tied Insurance Intermediaries of Zurich Life are tied to Zurich Life for all life insurance products.
